"Going beyond predetermined themes, Person, Place, or Thing encourages viewers to embark on a fundamental exploration of artistic creation. Drawing inspiration from the iconic game show, the exhibition breaks down the world into its essential components: the individual, the environment, and the object. Liberated from thematic constraints, audiences establish connections and construct their understanding within the framework of these elemental categories. Person, Place, or Thing celebrates the inherent diversity of artistic expression, prompting viewers to actively participate in the meaning-making process. Ultimately, it emphasizes that the true magic lies not in a definitive answer but in the boundless possibilities of artistic exploration." - Cynthia Cruz
